San Francisco and Berkeley Book Release Parties for:

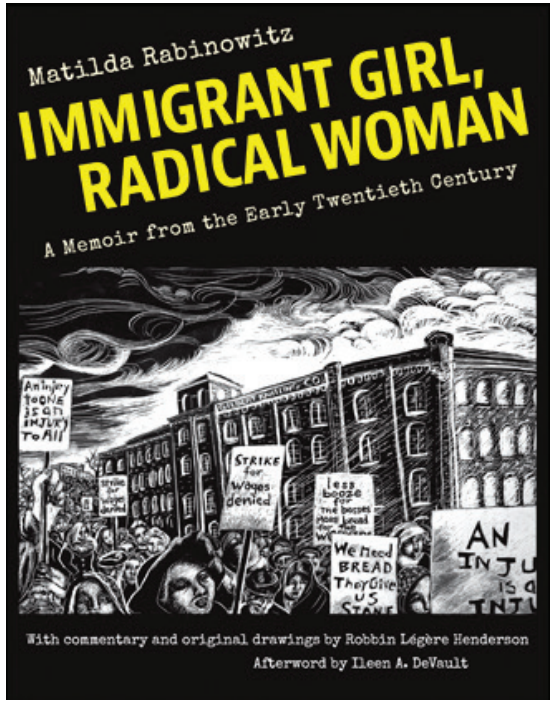
Immigrant Girl, Radical Woman

A Memoir from the Early Twentieth Century

By Matilda Rabinowitz

With commentary and original drawings
by Robbin Légère Henderson

Afterword by Ileen A. De Vault
An ILR Press book published by Cornell University Press



Thursday, November 9, 2017, 7 p.m.

Reading and book signing in the historic

Redstone Building

2940 16th Street at Capp, 2nd Floor, San Francisco
Also known as the Redstone Labor Temple, the historic hub of labor organizing in San Francisco, completed in 1914, this is a designated historical landmark building, and a perfect venue for celebrating Matilda's memoir and her life as a radical and labor organizer.
Cosponsors WRAP (Western Regional Advocacy Project) and Alliance Graphics a Union screen print shop.
Refreshments

Thursday, November 16, 2017, 6 p.m.

a celebration, reading and book signing

Berkeley Art Center

1275 Walnut Street, Live Oak Park, in Berkeley Cosponsored by Alliance Graphics and the Middle East Children's Alliance.
Refreshments

Robbin Légère Henderson will read from her grandmother's memoir and show drawings from the book.