

Get Loud Magazine

Get Loud is a submission driven publication produced by Denver Homeless Out Loud. It provides a platform which people experiencing homelessness can express their experiences, concerns and recommendations to the broader community in Denver; share the ways that public policy/actions affect their daily lives; become informed about developments that may impact them; and explore ways to work together to create meaningful change.

Denver Homeless Out Loud

We work with and for people who experience homelessness, to solve the issues that arise from the experience of homelessness. We work to help protect and advocate for dignity, rights and choices for people experiencing homelessness. To these ends, we commit our efforts toward goals affirmed and raised by homeless people, within our organization and without. We strive to add our strengths together to create ways of living in which everyone has a place they can call home.

We welcome you to join us in this work!

Our office hours are
Monday-Friday 2:00pm – 5:00pm

Group Organization

DHOL is a horizontal and consensus-based group. We don't have a president, or any other single person who is in charge. Leadership is designated to point people who are given responsibility to lead particular jobs. Furthermore, leadership comes from all members who take initiative and responsibility to lead in many ways

Meeting Procedures

During each meeting we have a facilitator, a note taker, and a scribe. Each of these positions is filled by different people each week. We work through our agenda, after creating it, based on the priorities we have at the time. Sometimes when we are discussing issues we have someone take "stack", which means that we speak in the order people raise their hands so that everyone is able to speak without the meeting becoming a free for all.

Decisions

As a consensus-based group, decisions regarding DHOL are made after group discussion has led to an overall consensus on the decision. When making decisions as a group, we work toward consensus minus one (meaning all but one in the group, need to at least be ok with the decision). Individuals are free to decide for or against or stand aside or block any proposals made. While we welcome new members, a person attending for the first time doesn't get a vote, but they are free and encouraged to speak during discussions.

Transportation

If you need help with bus fare in order to attend a DHOL meeting, we have bus tickets available from and to the next meeting. If you drive a car but need help with gas costs in order to come to a DHOL meeting we can assist with this cost. If you need a ride to a meeting please try to call the day before.

Tiny Homes...

A practical Housing idea

Resurrection Village

Resurrection Village is a project being built by and for people without housing in Denver Co. We seek to create affordable, sustainable alternatives to the current housing system. Tiny homes, are between 100 and 200 square feet in size. You can put a lot of them in a small area and house a lot of people for very little cost. Our vision is to create a community of the homes grouped together and sharing some resources in a village style. We believe that everyone deserves a safe place to call home.

Urban reststops

Anyone living in public spaces will quickly learn of the vast lack of public places where you can store your belonging while walking about town, looking for work etc. DHOL would like to address these needs by seeing to it that spaces around Denver be stocked with accessible bathrooms, showers, storage boxes and laundry facilities.

Colorado Right to Rest Act

Denver Homeless Out Loud (DHOL) is the Western Regional Advocacy Project (WRAP) member leading the Right to Rest Campaign in Colorado. Through WRAP, California, Oregon, and Colorado are working together in a broader Homeless Bill of Rights Campaign to end the criminalization of homelessness and build a movement that exposes and eliminates the root causes of civil and human rights abuses of people experiencing poverty and homelessness in our communities.

All across Colorado, and the country, people are being criminalized and pushed "away" for performing basic acts of survival like sleeping, sitting, sleeping in your vehicle, and having belongings in public space. Our Homeless Bill of Rights Campaign in Colorado will create bills that protect the following rights and prohibit the enforcement of any local laws that violate these rights:

- *The right to move freely, rest, sleep and protect oneself from the elements in public spaces.
- *The right to occupy a legally parked vehicle.
- *The right to a reasonable expectation of privacy of your property in public space.
- *The right to eat, share, accept, or give food in any public space in which having food is not prohibited.)

The core of our HBR campaign is based on our outreach to homeless people across Colorado.
